

ABSTRACT

Name:

Activity of a goalkeeper during the WC 2010

Objective:

My objective was to find out which goalkeeper's game activities appear in matches and their representative ratios.

Method:

An observation method was used for the research. Keepers' activity was analyzed in video records of the matches. Measured values were recorded in a table of activity and presented in charts.

Results:

Results provide us an evidence of high requirements on a goalkeeper in the present style of the modern football, mostly requirements on his universality. The passing was mostly observed. Foot game exceeds hand game. This outcome should not be overlooked during trainings.
